Wellness Promise Appeals

- If the OE website does not display any 2013 Wellness Plan Options, this indicates the member or spouse (if covered) did not meet their 2012 Wellness Promise.
- If a member believes they met the 2012 Wellness Promise, advise them that they must file a Wellness appeal. The Wellness appeal form is located on the SHBP home page at www.dch.georgia.gov/shbp. The form should be typed, printed, signed and faxed to 855-700-5912, as indicated on the form. DO NOT use this fax number for anything else.

- UnitedHealthcare members should check their online scorecard at www.myuhc.com and click on UnitedHealth Personal Rewards to see if they met their 2012 Wellness Promise, before filing an appeal to SHBP
- Cigna members and spouses (if covered) received a final compliance notification in the mail. They may also call the number on the back of their member identification cards to see if they met their 2012 Wellness Promise, before filing an appeal to SHBP

Wellness Promise Appeals

- If the member provides an email address on the appeal form the approval or denial will be emailed to them
- If they do not provide an email address, the decision will be mailed to the address indicated on the OE Website
- Only fax one form at a time
- During OE the member should go online and make their election even if the Wellness option is not showing
