An individual has the right of access to inspect and obtain a copy of PHI about them in a designated record set for as long as DCH maintains the PHI in the designated record set.

PROCEDURE:

- DCH may deny access without providing the individual an opportunity for review in the following cases:
  - a. Psychotherapy notes
  - b. Information compiled in anticipation of, or for use in, a civil, criminal, or administrative action or proceeding
  - c. PHI maintained by DCH that is subject to the Clinical Laboratory exemptions

  - e. For records subject to the Privacy act, 5USC § 552a, access may be denied, if the denial of access would meet the requirements of that Act
  - f. If the PHI was obtained from someone other than a health care provider under the promise of confidentiality and the access requested would be reasonably likely to reveal the source of the information.

- DCH may deny access, provided the individual is given the right to have the denial reviewed, in the following circumstances:
  - a. A licensed health care professional has determined, in the exercise of professional judgment, that the access requested is reasonably likely to endanger the life or physical safety of the individual or another person
  - b. The PHI makes reference to another person (unless the other person is a health care provider) and a licensed health care professional has determined, in the exercise of professional judgment, that the access requested is likely to cause substantial harm to such other person
  - c. The request for access is made by the individual’s personal representative and a licensed health care professional has determined, in the exercise of professional judgment, that the provision of access to such personal representative is reasonably likely to cause substantial harm to the individual or another person.
If request to access PHI is denied, the individual has the right to have the denial reviewed by a licensed health care professional who is designated by DCH to act as a reviewing official and who did not participate in the original decision to deny. DCH must abide by the reviewing official's decision as final.

If DCH denies a request to access PHI it must comply with the requirements of §164.524(d) which include:

a. Making other information accessible
b. DCH must provide a timely, written denial in plain language that must include the basis for the denial, a statement of the individual's review (if applicable) and a description of the complaint procedures for complaints to DCH or to the Secretary of DHHS.
c. If DCH does not maintain the PHI for which access has been requested, but knows where the requested PHI is maintained, DCH must inform the individual where to direct the request for access
d. DCH must promptly refer a request for a review to the designated reviewing official. The designated official must make a determination within a reasonable period of time.

DCH must act on a request for access generally within 30 days. There may be one extension for an additional 30 days.
